Professional Development

The 2009 International Building Code and 2009 International Energy Conservation Code courses have been reviewed and approved for credit towards the New York engineer's license. PSPE believes the hours will be acceptable in Pennsylvania as well. For all other states please check with that state's licensing board.

Architects: The full course qualifies for 6 HSW AIA LU; half day qualifies for 3.

Agenda

8:30 am - 4:00 pm

Registration

9:00 am - 12:00 pm

2009 International Building Code Update

This seminar introduces participants to major changes from the 2006 IBC to the 2009 IBC with an emphasis on the changes contained in Chapters 1-11. The lecture and activity format allows participants to discuss the changes, reasons for the changes, and answer knowledge review questions. Information presented will allow participants to apply these new code requirements to design, plan review, and/or inspection.

- Upon completion, participants will be better able to:
- Identify the most significant differences between the 2006 IBC and the 2009 IBC.
- Explain differences between the current and previous edition.
- Identify changes in organization and code requirements.
- Identify the applicability of design, plan review and inspection requirements.

12:00 pm - 1:00 pm

Lunch (included with full day registration)

1:00 pm - 4:00 pm

2009 International Energy Conservation Code Update

This seminar introduces participants to the major changes from the 2006 IECC to the 2009 IECC. Participants will discuss the changes, reasons for the changes, and take part in knowledge review activities. Information presented will allow participants to apply these new code requirements to design, plan review, and/or inspection. This seminar introduces participants to the major changes from the 2006 IECC to the 2009 IECC with an emphasis on the increase in energy efficiency improvements. It is estimated that the 2009 IECC will be 18-22 percent more energy efficient than the 2006 IECC. Knowledge Review questions are included to encourage participation. Information presented will allow participants to apply these new code requirements to design, plan review, and/or inspection.

Upon completion, participants will be better able to:

- Identify the most significant differences between the 2006 IECC and the 2009 IECC.
- Explain the differences between the current and previous edition.
- Identify the applicability of design, plan review and inspection requirements.
